Pre-order 'Dear Mr. Potter' today for chance to win great prizes

As many of you might recall from our last post, Dear Mr. Potter: Letters of Love, Loss, and Magic is now available for pre-order. At nearly 200 pages in length, the book features hundreds of letters and pictures from Harry Potter fans.

To encourage readers to pre-order, everyone who purchases the book before July 1, 2011, is automatically entered into two exclusive raffles.

Both will be unveiled as the close of pre-orders approaches.

The book features letters from Harry Potter actress Evanna Lynch, New York Times best-selling author John Green, Leaky Cauldron webmistress Melissa Anelli, and our own Andrew Sims and Eric Scull, amongst others.

Remember: all proceeds from Dear Mr. Potter will go to The Harry Potter Alliance (HPA), a non-profit organization that engages youth in social justice issues through parallels from the Harry Potter novels. The profits will help to fund the HPA's extensive efforts, specifically surrounding literacy.

Dear Mr. Potter can be pre-ordered until June 31, 2011. Get yours today!

'LEGO Harry Potter: Years 5-7' to hit store shelves this holiday season

Many have been asking since the release of LEGO Harry Potter: Years 1-4, if there would be a follow-up to the hit video game?

Well, Warner Bros. Interactive Entertainment, TT Games and the LEGO Group announced this morning that LEGO Harry Potter: Years 5-7 will be available for your video game console this holiday season.

The game will be available for XBOX 360, PS3, PSP, NGP, Wii, Nintendo DS and Windows PC. New playable areas include Grimmauld Place, the Ministry of Magic and Godric's Hollow.

"In LEGO Harry Potter: Years 5-7, we are giving gamers a truly epic conclusion to the most successful movie franchise in history with delightful gameplay for fans of all ages," said Tom Stone, Managing Director, TT Games. "We have built upon the first game and are giving fans even more magical abilities, puzzle solving and exploration, in addition to our distinctive brand of hilarious LEGO humor and charm."

J.K. Rowling talks about her favorite characters to promote new Bloomsbury campaign

The UK publisher of the Harry Potter books is looking to find out which character is most popular worldwide, and author J.K. Rowling has chimed in to help get the campaign going.

She briefly spoke about her favorite characters in the series:

'[My favorite character is] Harry, although I believe I am unusual in this, Ron is generally more popular (I love him too, though). Now that I have finished writing the books, the character I would most like to meet for dinner is Dumbledore. We would have a lot to discuss, and I would love his advice; I think that everyone would like a Dumbledore in their lives.'

Hallows - Part 2 trailer?

- ☐ Epic, I can't wait
☐ Same as all the others
☐ Why'd they show so much?

Our Harry Potter Timeline

FEATURED SECTION

March 2007 - Warner Brothers announces that Dan Radcliffe, Emma Watson, and Rupert Grint have all been signed for the final two Potter films. This comes as a relief to Potter fans, who have heard lots of mixed thoughts from the trio on completing the series.

Universal Orlando attendance soars as Wizarding World continues to draw crowds

The latest attendance numbers for Universal Orlando are in, and the resort continues to see big numbers thanks to the Wizarding World of Harry Potter theme park. From The Orlando Sentinel:

Universal announced Friday that attendance soared 68 percent during the first three months of the year — the biggest increase yet in a series of record attendance gains the resort has reported since opening its wildly popular Wizarding World of Harry Potter last June.

The big crowds fueled a dramatic financial rebound for Orlando's No. 2 theme-park resort, which posted a $45.8 million profit for the quarter — after losing $36.4 million a year ago.
